College Course Description

This class is designed to provide English and communication skills for use in office occupations. Areas covered include spelling, vocabulary, language structure, mechanics of style, and writing business memos, e-mails, and letters. All memo, email, and letter assignments must be typed or prepared on a computer. This course is designed primarily for Business Office Technology students.

Required Content for Articulation

1. Overview of communication;
2. Writing for business audiences;
3. Improving writing techniques;
4. Revising and proofreading business messages;
5. Email and memorandums;
6. Routine letters and goodwill messages;
7. Persuasive messages;
8. Negative messages;
9. Communicating for employment.

Required Competencies (SLOs) for Articulation

Upon completion of this course, our students will be able to do the following:

1. Create business emails and letters using acceptable language and formats.
2. Compose resume and job application letters to obtain employment. Emphasis on spelling, vocabulary, language structure and mechanics of style.

Assessment Methods

A grading system will be established by the instructor and implemented uniformly. Grades will be based on demonstrated proficiency in subject matter determined by multiple measurements for evaluation, one of which must be essay exams, skills demonstration or, where appropriate, the symbol system. Assessments may include the following:

1. Essay and object quizzes, tests, including a written final exam.
2. Written homework assignments.
3. Group projects and participation.

Texts and other supporting materials (software, etc.)

1. Guffey, Mary Ellen. Essentials of Business Communication. 6th edition. Cincinnati, OH: South-Western College Publishing, 2004.

Criteria for Course Articulation

1. High school and college teachers attend articulation meetings to determine curriculum alignment and articulation competency rubric.
2. Students must pass the high school course with a grade of "B" or higher for BOTH semesters and have mastered course competencies as identified in the articulation competency rubric.
